

Natural Chaos

A beautiful castle situated in the middle of a cold sea is like the gem planet earth in the vast universe. It contains a beauty any intelligent creature would admire and want to care for. However, our planet and ecosystems are experiencing the same unnatural state as is faced by the castle – fire on water, rain falling rather than snow, into frozen icebergs. From a deep unnatural human footprint, this magnificent home has an ominous future. This image is a representation of the decision that faces all humanity – whether or not to take the responsibility of putting the fire out.